Learning outcomes

1. During the internship, the student demonstrates the competencies of professional craftsmanship and acting responsibly at level 3. This includes the following learning outcomes:
2. The starting finance professional develops professional skills while performing complex activities within the financial-economic field. They do this by designing their development path independently and appropriately, based on a critical analysis of themselves as an entry-level finance professional.
3. The starting finance professional demonstrates clearly that they can act responsibly while performing complex activities within the financial economic field. They do this by critically analysing professional situations, based their own norms and values and a significant feel for societal responsibility, the laws and regulations relevant to the professional practice, and the principles of ethical and confidential conduct.
4. The learning outcomes are demonstrated through a combination of various behaviors and evidence.

The student demonstrates the competencies of professional competence and acting responsibly within the financial economic context. This means that during the internship the student works on professional products and/or tasks (level 3) within the financial economic field.

Content

During the internship, you will work within the financial economic field on the competencies of professional competence and acting responsibly. The internship is done individually under the supervision of your teacher supervisor and your practical supervisor from the professional field. At your internship site, you will work on professional products and/or tasks. You will also work on assignments, participate in group interviews and compile a portfolio. The exam consists of a portfolio and a criterion-based interview.
